

Beechcraft King Air B-200

The Beechcraft King Air B-200 is a twin engine turbo-prop aircraft that is often used for Civilian (Corporate), MedEvac and Military missions. This aircraft accommodates seven passengers and two pilots.

Aircraft Specs:

Seating: Up to 9 people: 2 Front, 7 Back
One main cabin door drops down and one exit door.

Paint Scheme:

Ext: White matte finish with red/blue stripes

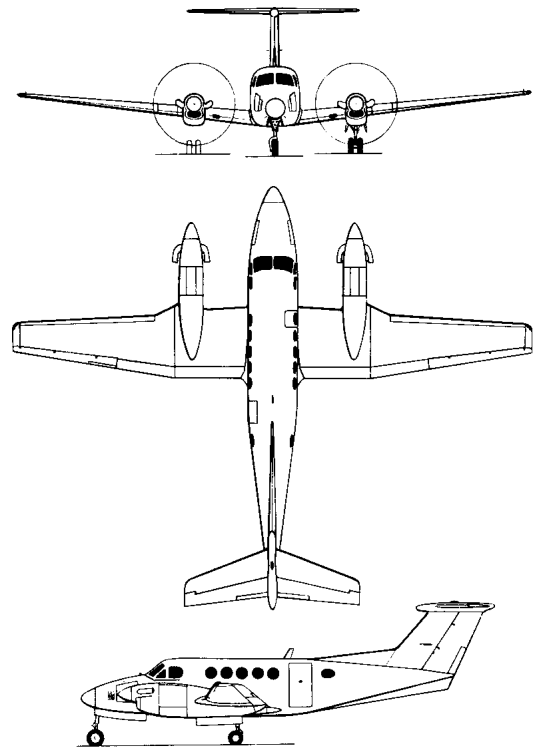

Int: Light & dark gray wall paneling with gray seat covers

Airframe: Cockpit panel is analog gauges. Some gauges are controlled by operator.

Note: Fuselage is mounted to a steel base, the cockpit and forward panel is wild. The cabin has two wild panels

King Air 200 (B200) fuselage shown with engine nacelle.

Fuselage Dimensions

L: 379"

W: 77" at base

H: 105"

Weight: 6,500lbs w/ base
(all is approx)

B200 with classic (analog) panel (optional glass cockpit is available)

Shown on a steel frame for moving on stage and on motion platform.

Shown with cockpit detached (wild) and cabin door dropped down.

Shown with all doors removed

Shown with wild wall panel removed. Both left and right are wild.

Shown placed on airbags to simulate flight / turbulence inflight. (Airbags not included)

Shown with front wind-screen structure and panel removed (wild) for up-close angles.